pursuance of that worke began to sett vpp perticular Churches: And the First Church gathered in the Masachusetts Colony was in this towne of Salem: a gratious begining of that intended Church reformation which hath beine farther prosecuted & prospered through the Lords mercy in diuers parts of this land: This Church of Salem entred Church Covenant with publique fasting and prayer vppon the sixt day of the sixt month 1629. Their number att the beginning verry smale was soone greatly increased and inriched with diuers worthy labourers in God's vineyard as Pastors and Teachers successiuely, viz. m^r Samuell Skellton: m^r Francis Higginson: m^r Hugh Peeters: m^r Edward Norris: and m^r John Higginson: their present Pastor. As their church increased diuers of the members came over the Ferry to liue on basse ryuer side, who on the 10th of the 12th mo^th 1649 (m^r Norris beinge teacher) presented their request to the rest of the church for some course to be taken for the meanes of grace amongst themselues, because of the tediousnes & difficulties over the water and other inconveniencies: which motion was renued againe the 22th 7 mo^th 1650: and the 2^day of the 8 ^mo they returned their answer, viz. that wee should looke out some able and approued teacher to be imploid amongst vs, wee still holding Communion with them as before. But vppon farther experience wee vppon the 23 of first mo^th 1656 presented our desires to be a church of our selues and after some agitation about it wherin our teacher stood for vs it was putt to voat & yeeilded vnto none appearing opposite. wee protesting their was noe disunion in Judgment or affection intend[ed] but brotherly Communion.

[2] Our desires being consented vnto, wee proceeded to build a meeting house on Basse River Side: and wee called vnto vs successiuely to dispense the word of life vnto vs m^r Josuah Hubbard, m^r Jeremyah Hubbard, and m^r John Hales: and after almost three yeares experience of m^r John Hailes our motion was againe renued the 23 of 4 m^th 1667 wch was as foll.

Wee whose names are vnder written the brethren & sisters belonging to Basse Riuer doe present our desires to the rest of the Church of Salem that with their consent

Vppon this the brethren had a meeting vppon the 28th of August and renewed their call to m^{r} John Hailes that hee would be pleased to accept of the office of a pastor. Whose answer was as ffoll: When I looke att the weight of the worke you call mee vnto of wch. Paul cried out (who is sufficient for theise things) I then looking vppon my owne manifold Infirmities & indisposition of spirritt therunto I see many discouragements: butt when I duly considder the Lords soueraignty ouer mee & all sufficiency for my succor I desire wheare I see his worke and call to say with Esaiah heare I am send mee; and in perticular when I obserue the remarkable prouidences of God in bringing me hither and pauing out our way hitherto and the roome the Lord hath made for mee in their hearts (wch I acknowledg with thankfullnesse to God & yor selues: I doe look att the Call of God in the present call to mee beeing [4] the more confirmed hearin by the concurrence of our apprehensions, which hath appeared in those things wee have hadd occasion to conferr about, conserning our entringe into & proceeding our Church affaires, which I hope the Lord will enable mee to practice accordingly.

Wherefore while you walke according to Gods order of the gospell, & in the stedfastnesse of the faith in Christ, and I see that with a good Conscience and freedome of spirritt I can carry on my worke and dischardge my duty to God and man & those that are vnder my care according to the respectiue relations I may beare vnto them: soe long as the Lord is calling mee to labour in this part of his Vineyard; I desire to giue vpp my selfe to the Lord & his seruice in the worke of the Ministry in this place; Requesting you to striue together with me in yor praiers to God for mee that it may redound to his glory, yor Edifiinge & of Euery soule that shall dwell amoungst vs and for our Joyfull accoumpt in the day of Christs appearance.

By mee: John Hale.

The twentieth of September ffollowinge those members abouenamed of Salem vnited together in a distinckt society: and the said mr Hale being dismissed from the church of Christ att Charlestowne wherof hee was a member: and recommended to the worke of Christ here, Concurred with them; when they solemnly made Confession of their faith: and Renewed their Covenant with the Lord which was publiquely & vnanimously owned by them as ffolloweth:

[5] Wee beleiue in one God the Eternall Jehouah Infinite in wisdome, power, holinesse, justice, goodnesse, and truth, the maker, preseruer, & gouernour of all things, distinguished into the Father beggetting the Sonne & the Sonne begotten of the Father, & the holy ghoast proceeding from the father and the sonne, three persons yett one god: And that the Lord made man att the first in his owne Image, in holinesse, knowledge, & righteousnesse, wherby hee hadd ability perfectly to obey God for life according to the tennour of the Couenant of workes, wch hee lost by transgressing gods Command bringing himselfe & all his posterity into a state of sinne and misery, whereby wee are by nature Children of wrath as well as others, liable to all miseries in life & death & to Eternall Destruction:

That God out of his meere mercy sent his only begotten Sonne Jesus Christ for mans redeemer = who is truly God & truly man in one person = who as man was conceived by the holy Ghoast, borne of the Virgin Mary, made like vs in all things (yett without Sinn) hee suffred death to ransome the elect, was buried, Rose againe from the dead & assended into heauen with his body wherwith hee now sitts att the right hand of God to make inter[ce]ssion for the faithfull; And shall thence returne to Judge the whole world together att the Last Day.

That the Lord hath giuen vs the Scriptures of the old and new testament for the only perfect and perpetuall Rule of our Faith and Life.

That all that truly beleiue in Jesus Christ & repent of all their sinnes haue by faith a right to all the benefitts of Christs purchase as the only [6] Righteousnesse of Christ imputed to them for their Justification the priuiledges of addoption, & sanctification by the spirritt, man being vtterly vnable by any worke or righteousnesse of his owne or light from within himselfe to please God.

Also that those who in this life walke before the Lord in the faith of the gospell & sincere obedience to the Law the rule of holinesse) wherin euery true beleeuer ought & certainly shall perseuere vnto death, when their soules being then & not before made perfect in holinesse, shalbe receiued into glory, till the resurrection when their bodies being vnited to their soules & raised vp againe immediatly before the gennerall Judgment they shall there be openly acquitted & so be eternally glorified in heauen.

That then allso all that beleeued not in Christ shall be publiquely Condemned & cast into hell for euer.

Allso wee beleiue that all true beleiuers make vpp that one body the Church of wch. Christ is the head who for the gathering in and perfecting of his saints hath appointed his Word, prayers, singing of pslames, Sacraments of baptisme & the Lords Supper: Church officers & discipline in particular churches, and that it is the Duty of euery Christian orderly to attend thereunto:

The Couenant:

Wee doe in the presens of the Eternall God & for our owne comfort renew our couenant with God, Joyning our selues to the Lord in a perpetual couenant that shall not be forgotten wherin wee doe hartily accept & Auouch the Lord this day to be our God, & to walke in [7] his waies, desiring to turne to him by vnfeigned repentance for all our sinns, & by faith receiuinge Jesus Christ for our only Lord and Sauiour, and his spirritt for our comfort, doe take him for our portion according to the tennour of the couenant of grace wherein hee hath promised to be a god to the faithfull & their seed after them in their generations, promising through the grace of God a constant & sincere endeauour of obedience to all Gods commands deliuered vs in his written Word, and to resist the temptations of Sathan, the world, and our owne deceitfull harts: and this vnto the death:

Wee doe allso in the feare of the Lord and presens of his people, ingage to giue vpp our selues, & our seed to the Lord, and to one another by the Will of God in our Fellowshipp together as a particular church of Christ: or congregation of the faithfull: promising each of vs to continue faithfull & stedfast in our communion together in the publique worship of God, & to submitt to the order, disipline & gouernement of Christ in this his church, and to the ministeriall, Teaching, guidance & oursight of the Elder, or Elders therof, and to the brotherly watch of fellow members: promising to walke towards them in loue & faithfullnesse, and in all offences to follow the rule of Christ, to beare and forbeare, giue and forgiue as hee hath taught vs, so long as by the rules of Gods Word wee shall continue in this our relation together, desiring allso to walke with all regular & due communion with other churches of Christ, for the Glory of God, our furtherancs & growth in Christ: and mutuall Edification:

And all this not by any Strength of our owne but by our Lord Christ assisting vs, whose blood wee desire may sprinkle this our couenant made in his name, Amen.

In Testimony of our Consent to this Confession of faith and Couenant wee subscribe our names,

LETTER ON THE ISLES OF SHOALS, N. H., IN 1801.

Newburyport Sept. 1, 1801

My dear Sir

You are not ignorant of the Interest I have taken in the Reformation and Civilizing of the People inhabiting the Isles of Shoals. It is impofsible by Words to convey any Idea of the extreme Poverty, Ignorance and Vice these People had sunk into. The Islands had been deserted by all who had Means to leave them — No one cared for the Instruction or Comfort of those that remained. The children were growing up without one virtuous or religious Sentiment. Drunkennefs, Profanity and Idlenefs overwhelmed the whole Community. The Liberality of well-disposed Persons furnished means for erecting a commodious Stone House, to serve them as a School House and as a Place of Worship. It also serves by Means of a Tower on its Top as a very useful Beacon for Vefsels arriving on our Coast.

The Society for propagating the Gospel have employed the Rev. Josiah Stevens since April last as a Mifsionary, to teach the Children, and to lead in the Exercises of the Sabbath. His Piety, Patience, Mildnefs and Industry have already wrought Wonders. Children who did not know their Letters, now read intelligibly in their Bibles, and those who never held a Pen before now write a legible joining Hand. Cleanlinefs and Decorum have kept Pace with their Improvement in their School Exercises. They are delighted with their new State, and their Ambition is kindled. Their Language has in a good Measure lost its Profanenefs, and there is a consoling Prospect of their Recovery to decent and virtuous Habits, should Attention be still continued to them.

You need not to be told how great Satisfaction I derive from this state of Things, nor how much Anxiety I feel for it's Continuance and Improvement.

Mr. Stevens is precisely the Man to be desired for this situation. He percieves it himself, and this has reconciled him to the Idea of continuing in it, notwithstanding his extreme Disgust from the Dirt and the Vice of the People amongst whom he is placed, on Condition only that a small House can be provided for his Accommodation. He has hitherto refided on another Island than that on which the Meeting House is, and where almost all the People live. The Pafsage acrofs is always inconvenient and at some Seasons hazardous. There is a publick Lot near the Meeting House on which such a House could be built. Lefs than $1000 would complete it. Charity never found a more inviting or a more promising Object. Say then if such a sum cannot be raised from the Wealth, the Piety and the Benevolence of those with whom you afsociate. You may afsure them that in a very short Time, they fhall receive Accounts of the Improved Condition of these wretched People, which fhall make their Hearts thrill with Pleasure.

Your affectionate Servant
Dudley A. Tyng

JOHN WOODBURY AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

A PAPER FOUND AMONG THE MANUSCRIPTS OF THE LATE PERLEY DERBY.

John Woodbury came from Somersetshire, England, about 1624–5, in the interest of the Dorchester Company, which established itself at Cape Ann, now Gloucester, at or shortly before that period. Perhaps no better or clearer account can be given of his earlier connection with this company as its agent, than to give, in full, the deposition of his son Humphrey, who accompanied him hither on his second return. This deposition is given to offset the celebrated Mason's claim to extensive tracts of land in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and which caused great agitation among the settlers at the time.

"Feb. 16, 1680–1. Humphrey Woodbury, Beverly, aged 72, testifies, That when I lived in Sumersetshire in England, I remember that my father, John Woodberye (since deceased) did about 56 yeares agoe remoove for new England & I then traveled with him as farr as Dorchester"

(Eng.) " & I understood that my said father came to new England by order of a company caled Dorchester company (among whome m^r white of Dorchester in England was an active Instrument) & that my father and the company with him brought cattle & other things to Cape Ann for plantation work & there built an house & kept theire cattell & sett up fishing & afterwards some of them removed to a neck of land since called Salem: After about 3 yeares absence my said father returned to England & made us acquainted with what settlement they had made in new England & that he was sent back by some that Intended to setle a plantation about 3 leagues west of Cape Ann. to further this designe after about half a years stay in England, my father returned to new England & brought me with him: wee arrived at the place now caled Salem in or about the month of June 1628: where wee found severall persons that said they were servants to the Dorchester company & had built another house for them at Salem, besides that at Cape Ann. The latter end of that sumer, 1628: John Endecott Esq: came over governor, declaring his power from a company of pattentees, in or about London; & that they had bought the houses boates & servants which belonged to the Dorchester company & that he s^d Endecott had power to receive them which accordingly he did take possession of: when wee settled the Indians never then molested us in our improve-m^ts or sitting downe either on Salem or Beverly side of the ferry, but shewed themselves very glad of our company & came & planted by us & oftentimes came to us for shelter saying they were afraid of their enemy Indians up in the country: & wee did shelter them when they fled to us. & wee had theire free leave to build & plant where wee have taken up lands; the same yeare or the next after wee came to Salem wee cutt hay for the cattell wee brought over on that side of the ferry now caled Beverly: & have kept our possession there ever since by cutting hay or thatch or timber & boards & by laying out lotts for tillage: & sometime after building & dwelling heere, where I with others have lived about 40 yeares: In all this time of my being in new England I never heard that Mr. Mason took possession heare, disbursted estate upon, or layd any claime to this place of ours, save the discourse of a claim within this yeare or two."

Mr. Woodbury had a brother William, but it is not known precisely at what period he came to New England but certainly before 1630; as, in that year, it is said he and his brother John removed to the Cape Ann side, now Beverly, and settled near Woodbury's Point, on Mackerel Cove. He was made freeman in 1630 and was Deputy to the General Court from 1635 to 1638.

In 1635 John Woodbury was appointed one of the "overseers & Layers out of the Lotts of ground for this prescinct of Salem * * * and in Leiue of y^r paynes they are to have 4^s the acre for small lotts and 10^s the hundred for great lotts rightly & exactly laid out and bounded:"

25: 11: 1635, he, with Capt Trask, Roger Conant, Peter Palfry and John Balch, received each a farm of 200 acres in Beverly. Bentley says "that farms were granted to individuals on condition of selling their houses in town, and the refusal of the farm was reserved to the town if ever it was to be sold."

As early as 1636, the idea prevailed to some extent that Salem would eventually be the capital of the colony, and a motion was presented to the General Court by Capt. Endecott in behalf of Col. John Humphries, to set off some lands beyond Forest River in Marblehead in contemplation of the erection of a college there. Upon this a committee of six was appointed to view these lands, one of whom was John Woodbury. No allusion to the project, however, seems to have been made from that date.

In 1637, he was chosen one of the selectmen, which office he filled till his decease, being present at every meeting of the board, the last one being Dec. 3, 1641.

He was called father Woodbury, but probably not so much from his age, as the title due him, on account of his great prominence, usefulness in the affairs of the town, and the general intelligence he seemed to possess. He could not have been much over sixty years of age at his decease as his last child was born about two years before.

There is no mention of land conveyances credited to him on record; but Aug. 1, 1660, his widow Ann, or Agnes, sold to George Corwin ¾ acres of land, and a small dwelling house, near to the meeting house in Salem.

He and his wife Agnes were among the original members of the 1st Church, Salem, at its formation in 1629, Samuel Skelton pastor.

Mr. Woodbury made a will, which was presented at court by his widow, and proved Feb. 8, 1642–3, but it was never recorded. No inventory having accompanied the will, she was requested to produce one; and is the last we know of this also.

They were married in England and it is supposed they had a number of children, not represented on record, some of whom may not have accompanied their parents to this country. What leads to this conclusion is the long interval between the birth of Humphrey, 1609-10, in England and that of the baptism of his daughter Hannah, 1636, in Salem.

Of his wife Agnes, nothing more is known of her after 1660, when she made the conveyance to George Curwen.

Humphrey, who lived contemporaneously with him, the terms answering to 1st and 2d of modern times. No settlement of his estate is recorded. He married Elizabeth ———, who, after his decease, married Captain John Dodge as his second wife, as will appear from the following deed of conveyance: "Peter Woodbury, Elizabeth Dodge, late ye wife & since ye widow of John Woodbury Sr. dec^d^, now wife of John Dodge, with son Ebenezer, son of said John Woodbury dec'd, Beverly, and Cornelius Baker, Salem, sell to Humphrey Woodbury Sr., Beverly, 40 acres of land, being now in possession of John Woodbury, son of said Humphrey Sr." — Dec. 3, 1682. This will show the relative distinction between the John Woodbury, Sr., and John, Jr. which at first proved quite confusing in the separation of these two families. In 1702, Capt. John Dodge deeded to his son William, some estate and William covenants to him £5 annually, during his (Dodge's) life and provides for his wife Elizabeth, during her life. (son of William) "all his grist and corn mills in Salem, with 3½ acres land adjoining, 2 acres of which lay in Salem, bounded on widow King, and east by Mill river, and the other 1½ acres being all my (Dodge's) land, there lying in Beverly bounded on said Mill river, my salt marsh and Moses Gauge."

Carried to the new Book

A FORGOTTEN HORROR.

The epidemics of small-pox, which not infrequently ravaged the best protected neighborhoods before 1800, were a scourge and a terror hard to imagine. No household, "however watched and tended," was exempt. Maria Theresa, Empress of Austria, had the disease in 1767, having contracted it from her daughter-in-law, the wife of the Crown Prince Joseph, who died of it. In 1774, Louis XV of France, surrounded with all the splendors of Versailles, ended a reign of fifty years with an attack of the small-pox, and communicated the disease to the two Princesses who attended his deathbed. The Bulletin, Vol. xii, pp. 144-165, gives a vivid picture of the condition of things before the introduction of vaccination as a preventive, in the early years of this century. Frequent quarantines became necessary between town and town, highways were fenced off, and dogs and cats exterminated. [See also Hist. Coll., Vol. v, pp. 195 and 252.]

Inoculation with the virus of the loathsome pest itself was practised for a century. This treatment was introduced from Constantinople, about 1718, and was recommended by men of such influence and authority as the Rev. Dr. Increase Mather. Hospitals were set up, in secluded spots, to which the well-to-do resorted in classes of a hundred. The treatment occupied a month. It began with dieting, prescribed exercise, and a general regimen intended to prepare the system for the introduction of the virus. When the patient had been thus brought to the most favorable condition for encountering the risks and trials of the disorder, of which he was capable, he was inoculated with it and was carefully and in most cases successfully nursed through it by a class of trained attendants who had been victims of the pest, and whom we should call immunes. Of course the best medical aid was secured, as well as the best conditions and surroundings. Gen. Washington submitted himself to the treatment at New York, in 1776. Salem had a small-pox hospital on the Neck at that time, another in the Great Pastures, the ground-plan of which may still be traced in the sod, and a very large establishment of the kind was set up by private enterprise on Cat Island, now Lowell Island, and was burned down by a mob from Marblehead. With one or two persons out of the class which entered at one time the disease was expected to prove fatal, while the ninety-eight or ninety-nine per cent who recovered generally quit the confinement of the hospital in exceptionally good condition. "Taking the bull by the horns," is, for the most part, a practice of questionable expediency. Most persons who approach the animal in that way get tossed pretty high and fall pretty flat. But in this instance it was thought by the best people to be a wise course. The assured immunity afforded for life from a most repulsive and inconvenient disorder, to which persons of active habits were peculiarly exposed, was considered worth all the risk and horror of the experience.

The following lines were written, in 1794, by a discharged member of a class at Beverly on leaving the resort at Hospital Point, in that town. One should be first cousin to all the Muses to be able to draw inspiration from such a theme.

Pinch'd with the Symptoms, chill'd for want of fuel,
Made lean by Jallop, Salts & Water Gruel,
For full three weeks with Patience we have borne
To be from roast-meat, toast and coffee torn.
With Job's few comforts, but with all his grief,
At length we find arrived the wish'd relief!
Hail! BACON, BUTTER, EGGS! Before our Eyes
We see hot puddings, beef & gravy rise!
We bid our fellow sufferers All Adieu,
And, be assured, we wish good Luck to You!
